DID YOU KNOW?

If you walk, cycle or drive up Syon Lane in Isleworth into Osterley the road joins Windmill Lane. This painting by J.M.W. Turner in 1810 explains the name.

As a child, JMW TURNER, England's greatest painter, spent some time at his Uncle's house in Brentford and during the early 1800s he rented properties on the Thames at Isleworth and Hammersmith. By 1813 he had completed the building of a villa to his own design on a plot of land he purchased between Twickenham and Richmond Bridge, now known as Sandycombe Lodge in St. Margarets.

Turner used the house as a country retreat and as a base from which to carry out sketching trips.

The house was sold in 1826 and during the 13 years he lived there he produced many sketches of the surrounding area and a number of beautiful watercolours.

In 2010 Sandycombe Lodge was bequeathed to Turner's House Trust, a registered Charity set up with the aim of establishing the house as a monument to Turner's time in the area.

REASONS TO BE CHEERFUL

There are many detractors about the area we live in but we have access to some of the most beautiful green spaces in London on our doorstep. Such as:

OSTERLEY HOUSE

SYON HOUSE

CHISWICK HOUSE

RICHMOND PARK

In addition there are 11 Green Flag local parks viz:

Beaversfield Park, Bedfont Lakes Country Park, Boston Manor Park, Chiswick Back Common, Church Road Allotments, Dukes Meadows Recreation Ground, Inwood Park, Lampton Park, St Dunstan's Park, St John's Gardens and Turnham Green.

This international award is a sign to the public that the space boasts the highest possible environmental standards, is beautifully maintained and has excellent visitor facilities.
