DOG ATTACK IN THE DRIVE

It was with sorrow we learnt of a recent dog attack in The Drive. Such events are fortunately very rare but do cause much distress to all involved. This incident has been reported to the police and it is believed that both the dog of its owner were visitors to the area.

Practical advice to avoid/and or reduce the risk of attack are:

- Go with another person when walking your dog.
- Carry a Pet Corrector spray, this emits a loud hissing sound which should distract an attacking dog.
- Try not to panic. If you panic, you make your dog (and the biting dog) worse. Try to stay calm and focused.
- Don't try to separate them yourself. It might be hard, but if you try to pull your dog out of harm's way you too could end up with some nasty injuries. You could also injure your dog further if the other dog hasn't let go.
- Try to distract the other dog from a distance. Hopefully, the other dog's owner will also be doing this, but see if you can distract it with a loud noise like a clap. Don't shout at or make eye contact with the dog as this can make them feel more threatened and make things worse.
- Call your dog away. You may be able to call your dog away. The owner of the other dog may be able to do the same.
- Report the incident. If your dog has been injured, you can report it to the police by calling 101 and report it to your local council's dog warden.
- Collect details. Get the owner's contact details and a photo of the other dog (if you can) and note or photograph any injuries your dog has. If you can, check if the other owner has third party or pet insurance for their dog as this may cover you for any veterinary care required. You may also want the contact details of any witnesses.
- Take your dog to the vet. Even if your dog's injuries don't look serious, take them to the vet straight away to get checked over. Many bite injuries are a lot worse than they look due to damage to the muscles and tissue underneath the skin and the bacteria carried in dogs' mouths.

CHANGES TO WARDS

In 2019, the Local Government Boundary Commission for England (LGBCE) carried out a statutory review of the council's electoral arrangements.

The main impact in our area is the movement of some streets from Hounslow Central Ward to the newly created Hounslow East Ward.

These changes affect:

Herbert Place, Spring Grove Road (part), The Close, The Drive, Worton Gardens, Worton Way (part).

You can check which ward your address falls within and if your polling station has changed by visiting: <https://www.hounslow.gov.uk/polling-station-finder>
